New Directions in Mental Healthcare Services: Telemental Health and Building Resilience

Thursday, November 10, 2016

Luxe Hotel • 11461 Sunset Blvd. • Los Angeles, CA 90049-2031

This one-day conference will examine changes in the mental healthcare landscape by focusing on (1) delivering services through telemental health rather than in person; and (2) building resilience rather than just reducing symptoms. In the morning, Dr. Marlene Maheu will provide a practical overview of telemental health laws, techniques and strategies, ethical issues, boundaries, competencies and supervision. In the afternoon, Dr. Stephen Sideroff will present a comprehensive model of resilience that considers all the factors that influence optimal adaptation and functioning, including recovery from stress. While most concepts of resilience focus on recovery from trauma and adversity, this model takes into account one's resistance to managing stress, as well as the evolutionary mismatch of our stress and survival response. Join us for a day of learning at the Luxe Hotel in Bel Air. Your registration fee includes 6.0 CE credits, a continental breakfast, sit-down lunch, and afternoon snacks.

Objectives:

- Outline at least five specific issues to address in the informed consent process when using technology
- Identify three legal best practice issues for working online
- Identify two factors that interfere with resilience
- List the components of the comprehensive model of resilience

Host:

Ken Bachrach, Ph.D.
Clinical Director
Tarzana Treatment Centers

Presenters:

Marlene M. Maheu, Ph.D.
Licensed Psychologist
Executive Director,
TeleMental Health Institute, Inc.

Stephen Sideroff, Ph.D.
Licensed Psychologist
Assistant Clinical Professor, UCLA
